Company Profile

Azure Specialty Chemicals Limited was set up in 2013 as a specialist sourcing and supply company servicing the Fine Chemical, Pharmaceutical and Life Science industry worldwide.

Extensive network

Our main focus is to assist clients by utilising our extensive network of producers for “hard-to-find” fine chemicals and advanced intermediates that are not commercially available. We regularly out-source custom synthesis projects, where the client needs a product as a key intermediate, but no obvious commercial producer is available. This can be achieved as a technology transfer, where the client provides an information package under a confidentiality agreement, or by matching the producer's own in-house expertise allowing them to offer a completely new product from R&D through to production.

Expertise in fine chemicals

We have built up a unique pool of knowledge and expertise in specific markets and compiled a reliable database of products and accredited suppliers with a proven track record of high quality, timely delivery and competitive pricing. Particular emphasis is on the supply of antibiotics, electronic chemicals, organic intermediates, diagnostic reagents, APIs, heterobifunctional PEGs and heterocyclic building blocks.

Building relationships

We pride ourselves in devoting our time and effort to building special relationships based on mutual understanding with our clients and producers alike, with a diligence and tenacity that sets us apart from any other chemical supply company.

Whether you are searching for specialty intermediates and rare chemicals or a more competitive source of an existing product, Azure should be your partner of choice.
